Stocks Move to the Tune of the Political Developments

THE MARKET MORE LIVELY

Belief Rife That Candidates and Issues Are Practically Decided Upon.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 6.—More than twice as many shares of stocks were dealt in at the Stock Exchange to-day as was the case yesterday, and yesterday's total was more than twice as large as the already more than twice as large as the already enlivened dealings of the preceding session on Friday. The supposition that the general demand for securities has experienced a sudden revival, as indicated by this rate of growth, awakens some skepticism over the character of the movement of the market. There were other features cism over the character of the movement of the market. There were other features brought out in to-day's market which strengthened the opinion that the movement is largely a professional one in its present stage.

Union Pacific retained a position of influential leadership in the market, but was not so dominant as yesterday, and was the subject of free profit-taking along with others conspicuous in yesterday in others conspicuous in yesterday in others conspicuous in yesterday in others and United States Steel preferred. The large buying of these came from the stame guiters as that of Union Pacific and St. Paul yesterday. The news to account for the advance in these two was meager, but the belief that prices of steel products would be maintained by the pools and that the preferred dividend on United States Steel would be maintained were dweit upon.

The drift of political discussion in Stock Exchange circues made it evident that the belief is general that the danidates and the supposition was not lacking that the operations in the market were based on the conditions thus implied. Very sangulne expectations are held over the corton crop, and the cotton-carrying railroads were conspicuous in the day's strength. The market was readily carried to the top level of the day in the final hour after much resultsing had been disposed of, and the closing was fairly steady, but not at the best prices.

Bonds were generally firm. Total sales, par value, £3,300,600. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

The total sales of stocks for the day were $55,300 shares.
